STUART NOMINATED.

Republicans Chose Him for Gubernatorial Candidate.

BUT ONE BALLOT NECESSARY.

Robert S. Murphy of Johnstown Named for Lieutenant Governor — Henry Houck of Lebanon and Robert K. Young of Wellsboro on the Ticket.

Harrisburg, Pa., June 6.—The Republican state convention today placed in nomination their ticket for the offices of governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of internal affairs and auditor general. The men selected to lead the Republican forces in the battle of the ballots in November are as follows:

For governor—Edwin S. Stuart of Philadelphia.

Lieutenant governor — Robert S. Murphy of Johnstown.

Secretary of internal affairs—Henry Houck of Lebanon.

Auditor general—Robert K. Young of Wellsboro.

The nomination of Stuart for governor was made on the first ballot, the vote for the various candidates being as follows: Stuart, 271; Josiah V. Thompson of Fayette, 55; Col. L. A. Watres of Scranton, 48; C. W. Stone of Warren, 32; Thomas H. Murray of Clearfield, 17; W. M. Brown of Lawrence, 3.

The convention was called to order by State Chairman Andrews at 10:35 a. m. in the Lyceum.

Olmstead Chairman.

Hon. M. L. Olmstead was elected temporary chairman. In opening his address to the convention Chairman Olmstead referred to the hard times that followed close upon the heels of the election of the last Democratic governor of Pennsylvania, but happily the election of William McKinley and a Republican congress was followed by a speedy repeal of the Wilson-Gorman bill and the enactment of the present Dingley tariff law, which, he said, started the wheels of industry revolving again. As to the achievements of the party in the state, he said: "Turn for a moment to our state and consider the magnificent achievements of the Republican party in the management of her affairs. The indebtedness of more than $40,000,000 left as a legacy by the Democratic party, has been wiped out. Under Republican administration Pennsylvania has never lost a dollar and the recent 'lifting of the lid' disclosed in her treasury the safe and comfortable cash balance of $12,993,707 and bonds of the United States to the additional amount of $500,000.

"If I was to quote Shakespeare on the question to be determined this year it is whether to bear the prosperity we have or to fly to ills that will be dead sure to follow a revision of the tariff by the free traders who stil maintain their ascendency and leadership in the Democratic party."

Detail of Convention.

Officers of the convention were then appointed. A committee on resolutions from each senatorial district was appointed. The platform condemns corporate evasions of law; endorsed President Roosevelt and Governor Pennypacker; declared for publicity in corporate affairs; approved the railway rate bill; declared for restriction of immigration; declared against a revision of the tariff; condemned the party for its reform legislation; pledged the party to two cent fares, freight carrying by trolley companies, and opposition to railroad ownership of coal mines.

The following platform was unanimously adopted:

We congratulate the people of the United States on continued industrial prosperity under Republican control in national affairs.

We give full credit and praise to the managers of great industrial enterprises for their splendid achievements, but condemn those managers who have grossly misused their powers by unfair methods of competition, by transportation discriminations, by evasions of law, and who have in so doing, under cover of corporate organization, obtained personal gain while escaping personal responsibility to the injury of the interests they represent and of the public with whom they deal.

We most heartily and cordially indorse and commend the splendid administration of President Theodore Roosevelt.

We approve the legislation pending in congress, and now certain to be enacted into law, providing for such supervision and regulation in a broad and comprehensive degree and conferring upon the interstate commerce commission the power to determine and to put into effect just and reasonable rates for the transportation of persons and property. The enactment of such legislation has been made possible at this time by the wise, courageous and successful leadership of our president.

We again declare our devotion to the Republican doctrine of protection to American industries and American labor and commend our delegation in congress for their firm and effective stand against the disturbance of existing conditions.

We are opposed to the ownership of coal mines and the mining of coal by railways or transportation companies, and we pledge the party to the enactment of such legislation as may be necessary to make effective the constitutional provision upon that subject.

Sketches of the Candidates.

Edwin Sydney Stuart is of Scotch-Irish parentage, having been born in Philadelphia Dec. 28, 1853. When 14 years old he entered the store of "Leary, the Bookseller," at $3 a week and continued with Mr. Leary until the latter's death in 1874, when he purchased the business.

In January, 1882, Stuart was elected president of the Young Republican organization and was re-elected annually for many years after. He was a delegate to the national convention of Republican clubs in New York, December, 1887 and in Baltimore in 1889, besides which he was elected president of the Pennsylvania State League of Republican clubs in Lancaster, April, 1888, and in the following September was re-elected at the convention at Pittsburg.

In 1884 Mr. Stuart served as an elector on the Blaine ticket. In municipal politics Mr. Stuart was especially conspicious in councils. In 1891 he was nominated for mayor of Philadelphia and was duly elected, serving in that office from 1891 to 1895.

In what was probably the most hotly contested election in the history of the Union League, Mr. Stuart was elected its president on Dec. 12, 1905.

Aside from his political prominence Mr. Stuart is a past master of the Masonic order. He is unmarried.

Hon. Robert S. Murphy of Johnstown, is a son of Francis Murphy, the "Blue Ribbon Apostle."

In 1892 Mr. Murphy was elected district attorney of Cambria county, and in 1895 was re-elected by an increased majority.

Mr. Murphy was born Oct. 18, 1861, in Louisville, St. Lawrence county, N. Y., the son of Francis Murphy and Elizabeth Jane Ginn Murphy. He first attended school at Portland, Me., where his talented mother died. He later obtained instruction at the Potts Academy, in Fryeburg, Me., in schools at Freeport, Sterling and Abingdon, Ill., and completed his education at Pennington, N. J. In March, 1880, he located in Johnstown, and with his brother, Thomas E. Murphy, studied law in the offices of Hon. W. Horace Rose, being admitted to the bar in 1883. He married in Johnstown, his home life being ideal.

Robert Kennedy Young, nominee for auditor general, was born at Wellsboro, Tioga county, June 14, 1861. He was educated in the public schools and at Concord, N. H. After studying law with Major George W. Merrick at Wellsboro he was admitted to the Tioga county bar in August, 1884. In January, 1885, he formed the law partnership of Merrick & Young with his former preceptor.

Mr. Young is secretary of the Tioga County Bar association, and is also secretary of the Wellsboro Electric company. He was elected justice of the peace in 1889 and was a delegate to the Republican state convention of 1895. He was a member of the house of representatives from 1897 to 1900.

Henry Houck, the deputy superintendent of public instruction, was born in Palmyra, Lebanon county, March 6, 1836, and after receiving his early education in public and private schools, he studied Latin and Greek under the private tutelage of the Rev. Charles A. Wedekind. Subsequently the honorary degree of A .M. was conferred upon him by Franklin and Marshall College. In 1859, when but 23 years old, Mr. Houck was appointed superintendent of Lebanon county and was re-elected to the same office in 1860, 1863 and 1866; when a little later Dr. J. P. Wickersham offered him an important position in the state school department of public instruction, he accepted. Three years later he was promoted to the office of deputy state superintendent, which position he has held up to this time through all administrations. For years Mr. Houck has been in great demand as a lecturer before teachers' institutes in this as well as other states.

Storm Severe at New Albany.

Saturday afternoon's storm was severe at New Albany. Much hail fell and the wind uprooted many trees; gardens were utterly destroyed, small chickens killed and other damage done. During the electrical storm Sunday afternoon lightning struck a telephone pole in front of the Wells Hotel, severing the wire.

THE PEARSON CURE.

New System of Vaccination For Tuberculosis.

HUMAN BEINGS MADE IMMUNE

Experiments With Cattle Forces Conclusion That Men, Women and Children Can Be Saved From Ravages of Consumption.

Philadelphia, June 10.—It is officially announced through the University of Pennsylvania that an infallible method for the prevention of tuberculosis in cattle has been discovered and that back of this there is cause for belief that human beings can be made immune.

To a Philadelphian, Dr. Leonard Pearson, dean of the veterinary department of the University of Pennsylvania, assistant director of the Henry Phipps Institute For the Study, Prevention and Treatment of Tuberculosis and head of the veterinary bureau of the state of Pennsylvania, belongs the honor of this tremendous discovery. It means, he says, work of far greater importance. The experiments made with cattle have forced the conclusion that men, women and children can be made immune and that tuberculosis can be arrested even when persons are almost in the final stage of the disease.

The Pearson cure is a new system of vaccination. The several tests made have been successful in every case. The chain of experiments started with the living tubercle in man, was extended to cattle, is now being applied to monkeys and is about to be carried back to the starting point—man. It is a work asserted to be more freighted with promise of life, wealth and happiness to the human race than any discovery of recent years.

Successful Vaccination.

Associated with Dr. Pearson in the experiments which are being made upon monkeys and which, it is anticipated, will soon be applied to man is Dr. S. M. Gilliland. With the conservatism of the man of science, who will talk only of the accomplished and the certain, Dr. Pearson said concerning his latest experiments:

"The results of the vaccinations of monkeys are most encouraging. They are a link in the chain of experiments which have the immunization of man from tuberculosis as their object. What the result of vaccination of cattle is we know absolutely. We have proved by vaccination that we can have perfect immunization where the cattle are not diseased, and we have proved the arrest of tuberculosis in cattle where the disease has been contracted.

"We have reasons to believe that the same result will be achieved through the vaccination of tuberculous monkeys. What the result will be when we come to apply the treatment to man I will not venture to predict."

Success in the immunization of cattle will be followed in the treatment of consumption in human beings."

THE MADILL MONUMENT.

Design Selected and Work Is Now Under Way on the Memorial.

The monument to be erected to the memory of Bradford county's ideal soldier and distinguished hero, General Henry J. Madill, is now being made and will be in place in the Wysox cemetery, ready for the unveiling at the annual re union of the 141st regiment in August. Our townsman, R. L. Scheufler, has the contract and the committee feel assured that they will have a first class job and a monument of which all will be proud.

"Erected 1906,
By devoted members of the 141st regiment, Sixth Reserve, and patriotic citizens."

On the opposite face following an engraving of two muskets crossed over a drum is the "Battle Record." This embraces first the battles in which General Madill participated outside of the 141st regiment. Then comes the list of engagements of the 141st from Fredericksburg to Appomattox. Beneath is given the per centage of loss at Chancellorsville and Gettysburg, and the total regimental loss in killed, died and wounded.

The monument will be imposing and a thing of beauty. Generations yet unborn will point to it with pride as they read the record of this unselfish hero, and the men he led to battle and victory. They will not think less of their ancestors for having contributed to this worthy memorial.—Bradford Star.

WEDDING OF MUCH INTEREST CELEBRATED AT MONROETON.

Henry Hovey of Dushore Married Miss Moss Egia Summers.

At the M. E. church at Monroeton, Wednesday, June 6, occurred a very pretty wedding, when Miss Moss Egia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Summers, was united in marriage to Henry Hovey of Dushore. The church was handsomely decorated with ferns and flowers, the color scheme being yellow and white.

Rev. L. L. Wilcox officiated, using the impressive ring ceremony of the Methodist Episcopal ritual. Miss Helen Park played the wedding march, and accompanied by the strains from Lohengrin's "Bridal Chorus," the bridal party marched to the altar where the service was conducted in the presence of nearly two hundred relatives and friends.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father and was handsomely gowned in crepe-meteore with duchess trimmings, tulle veil and orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of bridal roses. Miss Daisy Mingos acted as a flower girl and carried a basket of daises. Miss Jane Buckley was the maid of honor and carried white carnations. The bridesmaids were Misses Anna Cranmer and Julia Andrews. They also carried white carnations and like the two former were dressed in dainty gowns of white point desprit over yellow taffeta. The groom was accompanied by Charles W. Aldrich of Buffalo as best man.

The ushers were S. Bergen Park, Esq., of Towanda, B. F. Crossley of Dushore, W. H. Dieffenbach of Dushore and Harvey Hoover of Ithaca.

The reception immediately following the ceremony at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Summers was a delightful affair, nearly 100 guests being present. Small tables were set in convenient places and the menu served was of an elaborate nature.

The presents to the bride were many and very handsome and included cut glass, china, silver, linen, rugs, rockers and a solid mahogany drawing table. After enjoying a few hours with their friends Mr. and Mrs. Hovey were driven to Towanda where they took train No. 6 for New York. From this point they expect to go up the Hudson to Albany, thence to Avoca where they intend to visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Tyler. They expect to be located in their new home in Dushore about July 1.

Mrs. C. G. Summers entertained the bridal party at tea after the rehearsal Tuesday evening.

Those present from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. E. C. McKibben of Punxsutawney, Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Rowan of New York, Charles W. Andrich of Buffalo, Miss Jane Buckley of Williamsport, Miss Myra Shaw of Athens, B. F. Crossley, W. H. Dieffenbach and Misses Mollie and Nell Commiskey of Dushore, Harvey Hoover of Ithaca, Stuart Macafee of Athens, Cecil Blair of Ulster, Miss Leah Brink of Laceyville, Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Harleman of Sayre, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Kizer, Mr. and Mrs. George G. Johnston, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Dunfee, Mrs. D. O. Hollon, Miss Dora Hollon and Guy C. Hollon of Towanda, and Plate road the first and third Tues- Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Sweet and Miss Grace Tompkins of Waverly, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Lyon, Liberty Corners.—Monroeton Enterprise.

THE ALPHABET RAILROAD.

The N. Y., Pa. & S. W. R. R. Is Again "On Its Feet," With Debts Paid.

The Binghamton Herald has the following to say concerning the proposed railroad from Binghamton to Williamsport via Wyalusing and Dushore:

"Engineer A. K. Harvey, chief promoter of the New York, Pennsylvania and Southwestern railroad, is expected to arrive in Binghamton to reopen the offices of the railroad company in the Kilmer building within the next few days. Wilbur C. Fordham, who has made frequent visits to the city of late, was here after a trip over the line, expecting to meet Mr. Harvey. Mr. Fordham told the local men interested in the road that all of the debts are settled up and that there is money enough on hand to resume the construction on a small scale. This will probably be done after the return of Mr. Harvey. The latter was expected here this week. With the debts paid and bona fide capitalists back of the project it is thought that the N. Y., P. & S. W., considered dead and buried a short time ago, will again be put on its feet."

School Struck by Lightning.

When the lightning struck the Apalachin High school building on Tuesday of last week, a large slate blackboard was thrown about the room, hitting several pupils. The most seriously injured was Miss Mabel Green, aged 13 years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Green. A large piece of slate was embedded deeply in her face near the left eye. She was also cut on the neck. Dr. Bach was called and dressed the injuries and next day she had regained consciousness and it is thought will recover.

ATTENDED SERVICES.

High School Graduates Listened to Annual Sermon.

DELIVERED AT CHRIST CHURCH

Rev. Edwin A. Gernant, Rector, Chose as Text "Keep Yourselves in the Love of God"—A Sermon of Counsel in Life's Work.

The graduating class of the Towanda High school attended divine services at Christ Church Sunday evening where the annual sermon was delivered to them by the rector, Rev. E. A. Gernant. The order of service arranged included besides the sermon, the processional hymn, reading from Prayer Book, exhortation and general confession, declaration of absolution, the Lord's Prayer, Versicles and Gloria Patri, first lesson, Genesis, 11:4-24, Magnificat by Bunnett, second lesson, 1 John v, creed and evening prayer, Nunc Dimittis by Bunnett, the closing prayer and benediction, Vesper hymn and recessional hymn.

The sermon to the graduates was a most scholarly one. The text was from the Epistle of St. Jude, the twenty-first verse: "Keep yourselves in the love of God.' The rector said in part:

In the admonition of our text I would ask you to find all needful counsel for the coming years. Although the proposition that God is love is universally accepted, the fact thus unhesitatingly affirmed is often made to be a sufficient excuse for the most pronounced indifference to His revealed will and commandments. The love of God is a treasure which can be of no personal advantage unless it is appropriated and utilized. It can profit us only to the degree in which we are in uninterrupted connection with it.

To keep ourselves in the love of God is to abide in His fellowship and so to regularly and constantly think His thoughts and have part in His work. And this is the keynote and secret of a happy, successful and truly honorable life. * * * We cannot be too often reminded that God is as much interested in all that concerns us as we are, nay that His interest is deeper because more intelligent and proportioned, and that therefore any phase or aspect of our lives for which we cannot conscientiously claim His approval and support is necessarily unworthy of our own attention.

The injunction of our text will help us, as nothing else can, to widen our horizon, to lift us out of ourselves, and make us prayerfully and devotedly anxious to improve and purify the age in which we live and the conditions of the country which we call our fatherland. The rising generation will enter upon the conduct of political and commercial affairs under the stress and inspiration of a widespread endeavor to reform. * * * * How will you meet, how will you dispose of the complex problems which you must help to solve? There is only one way that is safe, only one way that can result in the larger life and peace of the people. Keep yourselves in the love of God. Cultivate the desire and with the desire the habit of thinking God's thoughts and advancing God's will on the street and in the halls of legislation, in business and professional life, on the buying as well as on the selling side of the counter. If you are not willing to do this it had been better for the world's highest good if you had never been born.

Application, perseverance, and cooperation with the teaching and disciplinary agencies thereunto provided—these have brought you to the eve of your graduation. The realization of the larger life—alone worth living—in the school of the Divine love must proceed upon precisely similar lines. And this, my friends, is exactly what we mean by personal Christianity, which involves such a free and yet dependent relation to the God and Father of all as cannot but accomplish and secure the manhood and womanhood for which we were created and short of which our lives, however otherwise, will only have scored the larger failure.

Keep yourselves in the love of God, that your thinking may be constructive rather than destructive. Be builders-up rather than pullers-down. A child can pull a flower to pieces but it takes an infinite God to construct and paint it. If you would help the world forward, discover the good wherever it exists, and rejoice in, advance, and support, you must do constructive thinking, and so keep yourselves in touch with the infinite Creator.

Lamenting what he calls the "absence of creative power," deploring the fact that although we are a nation of inventors, engineers, financiers and manufacturers we have produced no Raphaels, Shakespeares, Newtons or Darwins, President Schurman of Cornell university has said that it is the duty of our educated young people "to react upon these conditions and to introduce and accentuate other elements." In the work thus indicated you, my young friends, are to have part. If you would do your full duty and take your rightful place among the moulders of future public opinion you must begin even tonight to realize and to teach others to realize that the life is more than meat and the body than raiment.

THE LAQUIN SAW MILL HAS WONDERFUL RECORD.

Over Three Years Continuous Operation Without Repairs.

The big saw mill of the Laquin Lumber company, which was started up on April 20, three years ago, has made a wonderful record, in that it has never before been shut down for repairs. Thursday and Friday of this week the mill was idle on account of a scarcity of logs, the contractors clearing up their old cuttings and preparing to make a fresh start in new locations. It is probable that the mill will be idle for several days while a thorough overhauling and repairs are made.

For over three years the big mill has been run every week day for 11 hours to its fullest capacity. That it has done its work without a hitch speaks volumes for its builders.

SPALDING—GERNERT.

Prominent Western Bradford Families United Through Marriage.

A wedding of much interest to society in the Western part of the county, was celebrated on Wednesday evening of last week, when Miss Mary Ada Gernert, daughter of Walter B. Gernert, and Andrew E. Spalding, son of ex-Commissioner and Mrs. H. M. Spalding, were united in marriage. The event took place at the home of the bride's parents in Troy, in the presence of 125 guests, the ceremony being performed by Rev. T. A. Hughes, pastor of the Baptist church in Troy.

The bride was gowned in cream Princess crepe, trimmed with lace and orange blossoms, and she carried bride roses. The maid of honor was Miss Dorothy Beaman. The ribbon bearers were Marcella Smith and Lucile Besley. The groom was attended by Dean B. Crawford of Philadelphia.

Mr. and Mrs. Spalding will reside at Ridgeway, Pa., where he has a position with the Ross Drug company.

Re-Elected Principal.

George E. Rogers was re-elected principal of the schools at Athens. There are six other teachers employed in the Athens High school, although one is the teacher of music who also gives instruction in the other grades. The tax rate was fixed at 12 mills, ten for maintenance and two for building. The Towanda school tax rate is only 7½ mills. All the old teachers at Sayre who made application were recommended by the old board for reappointment.

A careful carpenter saws a board straight. A careful farmer likewise plants his corn in straight rows.

Cement is growing more and more in favor for use on the farm, as for a great many purposes it is both cheaper in the long run and much more satisfactory than medium quality lumber at a high price.

The construction of interurban trolley lines will ultimately mean a doubling in value of all farm lands in the territory adjacent. The effect is the same as it would be were the farm taken up and moved close to the nearest town or market.

In a way the general purpose hen resembles the general purpose cow, both being expected to approach so far as possible two entirely different standards of utility. It is because of a failure to do this that animals of the type mentioned are so often a disappointment.

That man is indeed narrow minded who takes his attitude on every public question as merely affecting his own case. The truly public spirited man looks at public policies not only as affecting his own particular interests, but as affecting those of his neighbor as well.

The fact that no device has been or is likely to be invented which at all approaches the human hand in the matter of milking constitutes about the only drawback there is in the business of dairying for a good many men. Many proprietors and a good many more hired men simply will not milk if they can get out of it.

One of the chief drawbacks to having a patch of horseradish in the garden or back yard is the tendency which it has to spread. It has been found that if a round hole the size of the root to be transplanted is drilled to a depth of ten inches and a piece of the root pushed to the bottom of the hole the plant which springs therefrom will spread little, if any.

The placing of a water pan on the lawn within convenient reach of the birds will be greatly appreciated by them and will furnish many an interesting moment to the thoughtful benefactor. Where a lawn spray is available the birds are bound to gather under it on the hot summer days, utilizing it for a bath and drink.

Those who are looking around for cheaper land should not get the idea that they must leave the United States to find it. Irrigation is becoming more and more general in the western states, and the results are astonishing. Moreover, these irrigated lands when first opened up can be purchased at a very reasonable figure, and experience has proved that they rapidly rise in value.

In the attempt to accentuate and perpetuate the excellent points of hogs a very extensive inbreeding is resorted to by certain breeders, and this in the end not only brings out to a marked degree certain desirable qualities, but does the same for certain undesirable ones. Among humans the law draws the line in many states at the intermarriage of cousins. It would be well if more care along this line were exercised in the breeding of animals.

The forestry and horticultural departments of some of the state agricultural schools are this year carrying out in co-operation with farmers of different sections tests with a view to determining the best methods for the artificial treatment of posts to increase their durability. In one state which has taken up the work about 1,000 posts from quick growing trees, half green and half partly seasoned, have been sent by the farmers to the experiment station for use in the test. As soon as results can be determined a bulletin will be issued.

A town development association of a neighboring city—and, by the way, its membership consists entirely of ladies—will this year try to arouse interest in the subject of civic improvement by offering a reward of $5 to the boy under fifteen years of age who during the season maintains the best kept lawn. The plan has already aroused much interest, and its good effects will be manifest at once and continue throughout the summer season. In other towns we know of like prizes will be offered to both boys and girls for the best kept and most productive vegetable and flower gardens. The contests which will be carried on in these different instances, while participated in primarily for the purpose of winning the coveted prize, will not only result in improving the appearance of many lawns and gardens in the towns wherein they are conducted, but will inculcate in all the boys and girls who take part in them a love of the beautiful and habits of perseverance and industry whose beneficial effects will not soon disappear. Youth's vigor and enthusiasm are just as productive of the good and useful when well directed as they are of evil and mischief when misdirected or allowed to go to waste; hence those who have devised the above plan to keep the young folks occupied during the vacation season are twofold benefactors.

It is safe to say that every day's feed from the meadow takes four days' feed from the hay crop.

A somewhat interested observation of the nest building habits of the pewee makes us think that these trim little birds delight in building their nest on just as much of an incline as possible and not have it slide off. In a sense they gambol with the law of gravity and seem to enjoy the excitement which it affords.

The top of the Chicago beef market for the past year, 620 per cent, was reached on May 11 by a load of Kansas cattle which averaged 1,589 pounds, and ninety-four head of branded Hereford steers from Kentucky averaging 1,487 pounds. There is big money in raising stock of this type, which will fetch from $90 to $100 per head.

There has probably been no single factor that has had more to do with the remarkable development of the agricultural interests of the country than an efficient system of transportation. Some idea of the magnitude which this has attained may be had from the statement that if all the steam railroads in the country were merged into a single line it would encircle the earth eight times at the equator.

While man is sometimes viewed as the natural enemy of bird life, it is worthy of note that most of the song birds prefer to run the gantlet of building their homes in close proximity to his own than in the woods, where they will be plundered by squirrels and crows and they themselves be liable to attack from hawks, owls and other enemies. The robin, catbird, brown thrush, grosbeak, mourning dove, oriole and wren belong to the class mentioned which build close to man's habitation rather than in the wildwood.

A friend who is engaged in the banking business said to us recently in the course of a conversation on life and affairs, "Before I went to college I was content to raise nice, square cattle and plant even rows of corn, but since I left the farm I have never been contented and seem always to desire something I can't have." The point this man touched upon is an interesting one. As one grows in learning his desires increase at an even greater rate, and with the increase of his desires comes a greater capacity for unhappiness and discontent. While we all desire to be educated it is a question whether the point is not reached after awhile when the increase in education brings cares, desires and discontent which outweigh the good.

THE RAISING OF WALNUTS.

Climatic conditions make California an ideal place for the raising of English walnuts, some facts relative to the culture of which may be of interest to our readers. Unimproved land adapted to the growing of the walnut may be had at from $250 to $300 per acre, while orchards in full bearing may be bought at from $600 to $1,000 per acre. A fair yield is 50 pounds to the tree, or about 1,000 pounds to the acre, while many orchards average twice this amount. The difference in yield depends upon the age of the trees, soil, cultivation, climatic conditions and knowledge of growing. The cost of caring for the orchard amounts to about $10 per acre for the year, which includes cultivation and irrigation. The product is gathered, washed, bagged and placed in the packing house for about a cent per pound, which would make the cost per acre about $10. The average cost of water for irrigation is $5 per year for each acre, making the total cost of production about $25. The harvest begins Oct. 1, the return from a fair crop being about $100. The older orchards, which are mostly hard shells, are gradually giving place to the soft shelled variety. During the early years in the orchard's growth various crops, such as alfalfa, corn, vegetables, etc., are grown between the rows, which keep down the expense of cultivation and besides yield large returns.

A New Jersey reader of these notes writes making inquiry of the cost of the round tiling used very generally throughout the middle west, stating that he believes if it were once introduced in the east it would prove far superior to the prevailing standard draintile, which is of a horseshoe type made in three and four inch sizes and usually laid on boards, flat stones, slate or other material. In the vicinity of our correspondent hemlock boards are usually used for this purpose, but these rot inside of ten years, while the tile becomes displaced and has to be dug up and relaid. He states that while the round tile has been made in the east, it does not seem to meet with favor, the people still preferring the horseshoe type. A great many miles of tile are being laid all through the north part of the state in which the writer lives, and, while we have not at hand figures for large orders, the prevailing price of four inch tile is $18 per thousand feet and six inch tile $35, which would make the first size cost 28 and the second 56 cents per rod. Many contracts for tiling are made on the basis of 75 cents per rod for the four inch size, which includes the tile, surveying the grade and digging the ditch for the same to a depth of three feet. The purchaser has to haul the tile on to the ground and fill the trenches after the tile is laid. Contracts for laying six inch tile under the same conditions is 18 cents per rod more, or 93 cents. Good tile properly laid should last a lifetime. While the initial cost of the round tile might be a trifle more than that of the horseshoe type, which is the standard in the eastern states, we are led to believe, using the data which our friend furnished as a basis, that in the long run the former is much the more economical and satisfactory. We should be pleased to hear from any eastern reader who has had opportunity to test the efficiency and durability of the two types of tile mentioned under exactly the same conditions.

THE SILENT CITY.

While there's many a savage tribe that does not in any appreciable degree approach the standard of civilization which the more enlightened peoples of today have attained unto, there is a point in which some of them do a great deal better in view of the light they have than some of their more enlightened fellow beings—that having to do with the care and reverence shown the dead. In all too many of the smaller towns as well as in many country localities the cemetery is the most dilapidated and neglected spot in the neighborhood. We have in mind one town in particular which is noted for its wealth and the enlightenment of its citizens whose cemetery is much more shabbily kept than if it were turned into a cow pasture, being a collective and individual disgrace to every resident of the community. This condition of things is without doubt due to the general fact that "what is everybody's business is nobody's business," no person or persons having taken an initiative to arouse their own or other people's interest in bringing about a more respectable condition of affairs. There is little question that even in the town referred to there would be plenty of people to follow if some one would take the lead. In the writer's home, a town of a thousand inhabitants, this rather perplexing matter of the proper care of the cemetery has been satisfactorily solved by the organization of a ladies' cemetery association, the men being either too busy or too lazy to properly look after the matter. The organization in question has had charge of the cemetery for a number of years, and the excellent care which it has received under their direction has made it by all odds the loveliest place in or about the town. A sexton is hired to do the mowing, trimming of shrubs and trees and care for the flower beds between the 1st of April and 1st of October. Money with which to defray the expense involved in the care of the cemetery is raised by an annual tax of 50 cents, a membership fee of $1 from those who belong to the association and the interest on a fund consisting of donations of $25 each, the payment of which exempts the donor from all taxes and insures a careful tending of his lot from year to year. A country cemetery not far from the one in question is kept in neat and attractive condition by means of the superintendence of a similar ladies' association. The businesslike and public spirited men or women (the latter seem to attend to the work most successfully) in any community could with little difficulty organize and oversee the work of caring for the local cemetery and transform what has hitherto been a wilderness of grass and weeds into a well kept, restful place where the dead may sleep in repose and whither the living will be drawn to view its tranquil beauty and renew tender and sacred memories of those "loved long since and lost awhile."

The religious professions of the person who will knowingly market eggs of questionable reputation are always subject to a heavy discount.

The other day there died a prominent farmer of Fargo, N. D., who has the unique distinction of having been the inventor of the kodak and having bred to a high standard what is commonly known as the blue stem wheat, having won prizes thereon at the Paris, St. Louis and other expositions.

The human family would enjoy a condition of almost ideal happiness if they would be as true to the dictates of their reason as animals of a lower order are to leading of their natural instincts. With a superior mental and spiritual endowment man was given a greatly enlarged capacity for misery and suffering.

A CLEAR CASE.

A friend of the writer quoted figures the other day that prove beyond question, if there were any need of proof, the value of ordinary barnyard manure as a fertilizer for growing crops. A portion of his farm consisting of some sixteen acres was broken up twenty years ago and had been cropped continuously since without receiving any fertilizing except from cattle and horses which roamed through the stalks. For a number of years this piece of ground yielded on an average thirty-five bushels of corn per acre. During the winter and spring of 1905 there were scattered on the piece with a manure spreader nine big loads of manure per acre. In the fall there was harvested a crop averaging fifty-five bushels per acre, almost a doubling of the previous yield. The case cited proved the value of fertilizing so fully to our friend's satisfaction that he has decided on the plan of fertilizing with either manure or clover a certain portion of his farm every year, which is bound to give largely increased yield in crops and at the same time keep his land at a desirable point of fertility.

The final disposition of petty misdemeanors before a justice of the peace and a jury of six, whereby a large portion of the expense of maintaining the criminal courts will be eliminated.

The enactment of legislation for equality of rates charged by transportation companies, both freight and passenger, and a maximum rate for passengers of two cents per mile.

You doubtless believe in the principles published in my announcement, viz.:

Trolley lines should be permitted to carry freight.

Corporations should pay their just share of the taxes.

Two-cent fares for everybody on steam railroads.

Enforcement of the Constitution relating to carrying companies (Art. XVII.) by providing proper penalty for its violation.

If nominated and elected I shall vote for these reforms. I may not have seen you during the canvass, so take this method of requesting you to attend the primaries, June 16, and assist in the good work of a proper revision of the tax laws.

Be sure to go to the primaries and take your neighbors and friends with you.

Sincerely,
GEO. MOSCRIP.

TOWANDA, PA., JUNE 14, 1906.

Quiet expectoration is encouraged in a Western railway station by the sign, "No spitting aloud."

Mary had a little lamb, and when she saw it sicken she shipped it off to Packington, and now it's labeled "Chicken."—New York Post.

The Tunkhannock Republican suggests that perhaps the meat packers killed diseased cattle because they knew the animals never could get well in any event.

Advocates of the simple life and pure democracy will see danger in the published reports that Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Longworth will be feted by royalty on their European trip.

Everybody always knew that packing house conditions were bad but it takes a recommendation from Theodore Roosevelt to really settle the matter to everyone's satisfaction.

The Republican who fails to vote at the primaries has no right to find fault with the nominations after they are made. Every Republican should attend the primary election next Saturday.

Now is the time for the farmers of Bradford county to begin preparing their exhibits for the county fair in September. Selection and a little extra care will work wonders with any product of the farm.

Speaking of the proposition to have the state pay the entire cost of the public school system, The Altoona Tribune says the people will never appreciate anything which costs them nothing, or even seems to cost them nothing. Nor would they escape making the final payment, for they pay it all in the end.

According to the report made at the forty-third national convention of brewers of the United States, at Indianapolis, over 50,000,000 barrels of beer were manufactured during the year 1905. This means that there was enough sold last year to provide one glass a day for every man, woman and child in the country, Sunday excluded.

It was found on investigation that the city of Corning was paying 50 cents a pair for stockings for some of its poor, $1 for a handkerchief and was buying oranges, bananas, fruit and other delicacies that are seldom purchased by the average workingman. The city also paid for face powder in the account of one woman.—Corning Leader.

To convince the school directors of Hazelton that the salary scale of teachers there is below the average in the state, the corps has a committee compiling a list of amounts paid in other Pennsylvania towns. The directors say the requested increase cannot well be made until next year, as the appropriations for this year have been set and the tax rate fixed.

What sort of a combination of jaundice, dyspepsia, hardening of the liver and the heart as well, must afflict that Louisiana statesman who introduced a bill regulating marriage and inserted therein a clause prohibiting a young man from courting a girl before he is 24 years of age. By the wings of Dan Cupid! the old cynic might as well shut off the sunlight and be done with it.

A suggestion made by an R. F. D. carrier is good. He said, that now so many patrons on the routes are having Summer visitors that he cannot be expected to remember the names of all the strangers. He suggests that patrons write plainly the names of their visitors on a card and drop it in the mail box; then the carrier may verify his work as he goes along and make fewer mistakes in delivery.

It will be a source of gratification to every patriotic Amerian to know that the Lincoln log cabin, once the home of the nation's greatest president, is to be returned to its original site at Hodgenville, Kentucky. It has been acquired by the Lincoln farm association from the speculators who bought it for exhibition purposes, and was taken from New York to Kentucky under guard of Kentucky soldiers.

The bicycle sidepaths, which were built all over New York state during the wheeling craze, have now been abandoned in most counties. Cortland county had a fine system, but it has now been decided to abandon all of them except those to Little York and McGraw. The Pennsylvania legislature passed a similar law, but fortunately it was declared unconstitutional before any great amount of money had been spent.

THE PLATFORM.

The platform adopted by the Republican State convention is an unusually strong and comprehensive document. If there is any criticism suggested by it, it is that it is too long; but these are troublous times for all political parties and there is need that nothing shall be left unsaid that can help establish their claim to the confidence and support of the people. These are days when graft and political abuses of all kinds are being investigated and punished, and political parties can not ignore the demand the people are everywhere making for a square deal, and a new deal where it has not been square.

The day is here when the individual member of society, he of the rank and file, the unit of the social organization, the voter, is looking into matters with an earnestness of purpose unknown before. He is bent on righting wrongs. He thinks, too, that he has already made a creditable beginning. The platform adopted by the Republican convention will commend itself to him, and if he desires a stronger pledge than the words or promises of the platform he will find it in the character of the men named on the ticket. Does he want two cents a mile fare on railroads, and mileage books at the same rate, without making an extra deposit with the company to get it? The Republican party pledges itself specifically in its platform to the enactment of a law that will give it. Does he believe that trolley railways should be allowed to carry freight and thus greatly facilitate the getting the products of the farm to market? The Republican platform in plain words, pledges the party to the enactment of such a law. Is he opposed to the ownership of coal mines and the mining of coal by railway companies? The platform pledges the party to such legislation as may be necessary to make effective the constitutional provisions relative to that matter. It is intended, says the platform, to compel the impartial and just treatment of all citizens by carrying corporations, and as a means to that end, the party pledges itself to the creation of a state commission to exercise with relation to transportation within the commonwealth, powers similar to those conferred by the United States government on the Interstate Commerce commission, for the regulation of interstate transportation.

The Republican platfrom covers much ground. It is an up-to-date declaration of party policy, and is as full of publicity and of demand for accountability of corporations to the public as the most ardent reformers can demand. The recovery and reopening of abandoned canals is advocated, and an investigation is demanded of the facts as to the abandonment of the construction of competitive railroads by existing corporations. A strong word is spoken for safe-guarding public interests in the granting of franchises for public utilities and the use of public highways. Laws are urged which are to prevent the waters and the water power of the state passing from the control of the people. The platform declares that owing to the splendid system of taxation of corporations in the state and the full collection of taxes from corporations and other sources, that the time has now come when the laws regulating the collection of personal property tax and license fees should be so amended that a large proportion, if not all, of these moneys shall be entirely diverted from the state treasury for the benfit of the counties in which they were paid. The cause of good roads comes in for a word of strong commendation. The platform favors the most liberal appropriations which the condition of the state treasury from time to time will permit in aid of this great improvement.

A hearty and cordial endorsement is given President Roosevelt's administration, which it says, "more than justifies the 500,000 majority we gave him." Particular praise was given the president for the vigorous and successful enforcement, through the department of justice, to the anti-trust and interstate commerce laws. In conclusion the platform urges all who believe in the policy of Theodore Roosevelt's administration to do all they can to elect congressmen who will stand by him and uphold his hands. It is a platform to be proud of and the ticket named is one to be proud of. There is not the slightest doubt that the Republicans of Bradford county will endorse it and give it loyal support.

At the instance of District Attorney Jones, the warrants he had sworn out for the arrest of Lewis Weiscarger and E. J. Donohue of Wilkes-Barre, on charges of trying to illegally influence a jury, were served June 5, and the men were taken before Alderman Pollock and held under $500 bail each for appearance before the next grand jury. The last grand jury, to the surprise of the district attorney and the court, ignored the charges against them, despite the fact that the district attorney, at the suggestion of the court, had personally investigated the charges against them before directing their arrest.

T. H. M. Townsend, a member of Bartram Council, Order Independent Americans, discovered the Italian colors flying above the red, white and blue at Darby, this state, Memorial day. He at once delivered an ultimatum that if the American colors were not run up to the top over everything else within five minutes there would be international trouble. Within the specified time Old Glory was where it should have been. Italy is all right but she must come next to and not before Uncle Sam.

THE TICKET.

The ticket named by the Republican State convention is one which every Republican can give cordial support. The candidates are men of the highest character, of conceded ability, and are, in every sense, representative Republicans. They received an overwhelming majority of the delegates of the convention on the first ballot, and are pledged to the reformation of the corporate and political abuses which the people are demanding. This pledge is so clear and explicit and the demand for reform so emphatic, that no candidate or party can ignore it. The life-long record of these men is a guaranty that they will stand squarely and firmly on the platform on which they were nominated.

Mr. Stuart, the candidate for governor, was found to be the only logical choice of the convention. Other booms there were, and in the interests of good men, but they lacked strength. The friends of the other candiates wanted them badly, but of their friends there were not enough. A good man from this section of the state went down—Col. Watres of Scranton. He is a gentleman of character and ability, but when it came to the test he had only 48 delegates. In a nominating convention there are several things needful, but the most needful of all is delegates. Stuart had the strength from the start and won on the first ballot. He was the choice of Philadelphia and received the vote of that city's entire delegation—113 votes. But he was the choice of the state outside of Philadelphia. From his vote, 271, take the whole Philadelphia contingent and you have left 158 votes. The four other candidates for governor aggregated but 155 votes. Stuart was the demand of the convention and his nomination could not have been prevented.

Edwin S. Stuart is a clean and able man. He was one of the best mayors the city of Philadelphia ever had. No faction controlled him, no boss ruled him. To recite his good qualities and his deeds while Mayor of that city—how he fought the aggressiveness of corporations, made street railway companies pave streets, opposed wide-open trolley privileges, purged the administration of affairs in the city treasurer's office—as a result of which Treasurer Bardsley went to prison—forced the abolition of grade crossings etc., would make a story too long to be given here.

He is able, honest and fearless, and the people of the great city where he was born and has always lived, know him and trust him.

The ticket is strong throughout and balances well geographically and intellectually. Robert S. Murphy of Cambria county, candidate for Lieutenant-Governor, came to the convention with a gubernatorial boom of his own, but when he saw Stuart's overwhelming strength, readily consented to take second place. He will make an independent, upright official, and will be free from any motives except the proper regard for his duties.

Robert K. Young, candidate for Attorney General, is a resident of Wellsboro, our neighboring county, and is a young man of ability and has a clean record.

Henry Houck of Lebanon, the candidate for Secretary of Internal Affairs, has a good reputation as a Deputy Superintendent of State public schools, and is not unknown to the people of Bradford county as he has been here often, one of the corps of instructors at our county teachers' institute. He is a scholar of wide reputation and has held the office of Deputy State Superintendent of Public Instruction for nearly thirty-six years.

The Republicans of Pennsylvania have this year a ticket and a platform which every voter of that faith can support and support heartily. Its candidates are clean men, of high character and ability and of proven fitness. The platform to which they are pledged takes advanced ground on all leading public questions. Candidates and platform met the high demands of the time and upon these issues the party with united front should now move forward against the old enemy. To say that a stronger ticket could have been nominated is worse than useless and, we believe, untrue. If the Republican party of this great state cannot win with the splendid ticket that was the overwhelming choice of its delegates last week at Harrisburg it could not win with any.

The man who is all the time finding fault with our politics and telling how they should be reformed, and yet fails to turn out and vote at the primaries, is't much of a reformer after all. If he wants good men elected to the legislature and better laws enacted by that body he will at least vote at the primary elections where all reforms must begin. The voter who doesn't care enough about reform to vote for it is neither a reformer nor a good Republican.

Remember the Republican caucuses to be held on Saturday next. After that Pennsylvania caucuses will be held under the new primary election law passed at the last session of the legislature, which provides that the primaries of the different parties shall be held at the same time.

Richard A. Canfield, the gambler, says that going to jail does not hurt a gambler's reputation. Mr. Canfield is correct. Nothing and nobody can hurt a gambler's reputation.

Republican primaries next Saturday.

Help select the local ticket.

SATURDAY'S PRIMARIES.

There are many indications that the voters are taking unusual interest this year in the nomination of candidates for the legislature. This may be ascribed to several reasons. First, there is a very general feeling abroad that the race was open to all comers and that there was a chance for a candidate to win on his merits. But the main reason for this increased interest in the selection of legislative candidates is an aroused public sentiment which is demanding not only better men for public positions but that much needed legislation which has been promised by both parties for years shall no longer be deferred. The people are realizing that legislative bodies are just now more responsive to public opinion than they have been, and they believe that now is the time to strike for the redress of their wrongs.

Much important legislation is sure to be enacted by our next legislature and the people are choosing more carefully than they have done in years the men who are to make our laws. Fortunately, there are good men who are asking for a nomination this year at the hands of the Republican electors of the county, and it will be the fault of the voters themselves if they are not chosen. It is the duty of every Republican who wants good, clean representative men sent to the legislature to go to the primaries next Saturday and vote for them. The people will decide and they should make the decision as emphatic as possible at the primaries.

JURY COMMISSIONER.

In nearly every county in the state there has been more or less trouble with the quality or character of its juries and the law courts have been discussing the duties of jury commissioners which points to a general necessity for reform in this office. That there should be a high standard set as to the qualifications necessary for a good commissioner is unquestioned. Our lives, liberty and property depend upon the intelligence and honesty of the jury box. The men who perform the duties of this high office of jury commissioner should be citizens whose integrity is beyond question.

Every thoughtful, honest citizen will subscribe to these demands and the primaries next Saturday will afford opportunity to begin the reform needed in the selection of our jury commissioners. Let the voter help to place in nomination men who command the respect of the bench, bar and of the county as well. Macaulay has pointed out that England was saved from political debauchery in the days of Walpole by the universal purity of her courts of justice. Political ills are curable, but only when the stream of law runs pure. Help to keep it pure by putting honest men in charge of the jury box.

William H. Newman, president of the New York Central, this year holds the record for directorships and trusteeships. He represents the Vaiderbilts in 106 corporations. Frederick Underwood, president of the Erie road, is second in the list, with 72 directorships, and W. K. Vanderbilt in fourth with 65.

Case From Tuscarora.

Harry Clapper of Tuscarora township, had a hearing before Justice Orcutt Tuesday and was held to await the action of the grand jury on the charge of assault and battery. Bail in the sum of $200 was furnished by Clapper. T. F. Hall, also of Tuscarora, was the complainant and he alleged that last July Clapper struck him in the face with a stone, knocking him off his mower. He also claims that Clapper kicked him and as as a result he was laid up for a long time. Clapper pleaded guilty and asked for a jury trial. This was refused by the justice. William Maxwell appeared for the prosecution and Charles M. Culver for the defendant.

Expensive Fishing.

James W. Northrup, Jr. had a hearing yesterday before Justice Orcutt on the charge of taking trout under size from the Millstone creek near Weston Station. The arrest was made by Special Warden Purley H. Nichols of Milan. Northrup pleaded guilty and was sentenced by the justice to pay a fine of $30 and costs, which he did. The case against Walter Northrup for illegal taking of trout was continued until August.

Bradford—Sullivan C. E. Union.

The annual convention of the Bradford-Sullivan Christian Endeavor union will be held in the Presbyterian church, in Athens, June 20 and 21. The committee are making every effort to have this one of the most interesting and helpful convention ever held. Among the speakers are Dr. Hallenbeck of Binghamton, and Mrs. Dukes, a noted Junior worker, of Trenton, N. J.

Overpeck Reunion.

The descendants of Adam Overpeck will hold their fourth annual reunion in the M. E. church, Herrickville, on Thursday, June 28, 1906. The different table committees will arrange for their reception tables. Anything of interest will be gladly appreciated towards making the entertainment a success. Please hand the title of your selection to M. A. Overpeck, president.

At South Towanda Chruch.

Children's day exercises at the South Towanda church will be held Sunday evening at 7 o'clock; preaching in the afternoon at 4 o'clock.

CHAIRMAN ROBINSON TO PURIFY THE PRIMARIES.

Republican Head Offers Reward for Violations of Law.

Chairman Robinson of the Republican county committee will pay a reward of $100 for the arrest and conviction of any person who tampers with the election law at the primaries next Saturday night. This means that any man offering, or giving, or promising to give money or any other thing to buy votes will be up against prosecution as well as persons who are guilty of illegal voting and minors who cast a ballot.

Chairman Robinson is determined, as far as lies within his power to see that the primaries are conducted on the square. It is a notorious fact that many a politician in Bradford county owes his rise to political preferment by the indiscriminate use of half pints. This effort to purify the ballot box on the part of the county chairman should receive the endorsement and co-operation of every voter who believes in a "square deal."—Athens News.

NOTES OF THE COURTS.

Several Items of Business Disposed of By Judge Fanning.

In the suit of U. E. Smith vs. John Splann, E. S. Andrews and A. E. Avery, road commissioners of Monroe township, the court has set aside and reversed the proceedings. The claim was for damages to plaintiff's wagon through alleged negligence on the part of the commissioners to fix the road. The damages, if any, are consequential, and the court holds that they were not such as to come under the jurisdiction of the justice of the peace who disposed of the case.

The court has granted the petition of B. T. Hagerman and Lamont Berry against the proposed laying out of a road in Springfield township near the lands of Ella Ward. The exception was taken on the ground that the action of the road commissioners was inadequate. The court held that this was so and that the termini were not definitely located and that no plot or report was filed in accordance with the law.

Divorces have been decreed in the suits of Bessie L. Camp Baker vs. Perry H. Baker; Clarence E. Decker vs. Elizabeth A. Decker; Emma Lowe vs. Henry F. Lowe.

Mrs. Clinton P. McCord.

Mrs. Clinton P. McCord died at her home in Wyalusing Tuesday morning at 6 o'clock, death being caused by child-birth. The remains will be taken to her old home at Phoenixville. Mrs. McCord was an excellent young lady, of a retiring disposition, her chief delight being in the care of her home. During her stay in this place she occassionally delighted the lovers of music by her solo work at the Methodist church, of which services she and her husband were among the worshippers when her health would permit. Besides her husband she is survived by her parents and two brothers, all of whom reside at Phoenixville.—Wyalusing Rocket.

Damages of $2,000.

J. W. Mix, William Foyle and W. J. Young, arbitrators in the suit of Mrs. Clara A. Gilbert of Greenwood vs. the Elk Tanning company, filed their report Monday evening. Mr. Mix and Mr. Foyle found for $2,000 damages, but Mr. Young did not agree with this. Mrs. Gilbert brought suit to recover damages for the death of her husband, Elijah B. Gilbert, who died as the result of injuries received by falling into a vat at the Greenwood tannery. Lilley & Wilson represented the plaintiff and J. C. Ingham of Towanda and John E. Cupp of Williamsport, represented the defendant.

Goes to Slatington.

Joseph H. Hurst, who for the past few years has been the principal of the Wyalusing township High school, goes to Slatington where he will have charge of the schools of that city for the coming year. Mr. Hurst, whose salary as principal will be $1,500 per year, is a splendid educator and it is largely through his ability as a teacher and principal that the schools at Camptown have a reputation second to none of the township High schools of the state.

Palmer—Campbell.

Leslie M. Palmer and Miss Georgiana Campbell were married Saturday evening in Waverly by Rev. H. B. Cook. They are both well known Athens young people. They will begin housekeeping at once in Sayre where Mr. Palmer is employed.

Both are well known and very popular young people with a wide acquaintance. Mrs. Swingle has been for several years an operator in the Towanda exchange of the Bell telephone, and Mr. Swingle is employed in Swingle's dry goods store.

Surveying Near LeRaysville.

F. A. Sawyer accompanied by a number of surveyors was in town recently. They were going over the route between Towanda and Binghamton preparatory to making the final survey on this side of the river. There will be an attempt to lower the grade on this side of the river from 78 to 52 feet to the mile and to do this a number of different routes will of a necessity be surveyed. Possibly the road will run through town, making a curve at the lower part of the borough and thence out through Neath.—LeRaysville Times.

REPORT OF DEAD BODY CAUSED GREAT EXCITEMENT.

Fire Department Turned Out on Police Call and Three Men Hurt.

A glimpse of some floating object in the river, which a rider on a Lehigh Valley freight believed to be a dead body, caused all sorts of excitement in Towanda Saturday morning. A man jumped from an Eastbound freight at the Wysox milk station, told the agent that he had seen a dead man floating in the river near the head of the island below the railroad bridge. The creamery man sent word to the Independent telephone exchange. The operator sounded the police alarm; the ever alert fire department took it for a fire alarm and turned out in a body. In responding to the alarm the Lin-ta hose cart got away from the men in charge and ran over three of them severely bruising and cutting Thomas Scott and R. W. McPherson and bruising George Felton. And a thorough investigation of the river failed to show up a dead man. The nearest approach to it was a small boy's straw hat floating under the river bridge, and the boy was present making frantic efforts to recover his property.

A party headed by Chief Miller secured a rig and drove up the river as far as the railroad bridge, making a thorough examination. No dead body was found. At one spot a whitened branch of an old log protruded above the water which a man riding rapidly by might be excused for imagining to be a human arm.

Some color of probability was given the story by the fact that a Lehigh Valley freight engineer reported at Sayre on the evening of Memorial day that his locomotive struck a man on the Towanda bridge, and the finding of a man's cap and some blood stains on the pilot.

In the mix-up with the Lin-Ta's cart Thomas Scott received a severely bruised and lacerated left arm and side, his chest was bruised and a rib dislocated. R. W. McPherson was badly bruised and received a cut on one leg that required several stitches to close. George Felton has one arm skinned up and his face bruised.

TOWANDIANS IN COPPER.

Norman Houser Describes the Cananea Concentrating Plant.

The town of Cananea, in Sonora, Mexico, that was brought recently so prominently into public notice by the riots in that famous copper camp, has a peculiar interest to Towanda people, from the fact that J. Norman Houser, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Houser, of Towanda, is filling an important position in the concentrator plant, and Harry Godcharles, whose wife was Miss Sue Pratt, daughter of Dr. D. L. Pratt, is also with the copper company. All these people came through the recent trouble unharmed.

In a recent number of the Cananea Herald Mr. Houser gives a technical description of the concentrating plant, which treats 2,400 tons of ore daily, turning out 750 tons of concentrates for the smelters. The ore is received from the mines in 2,000-ton storage bins and fed out of them by 30-inch conveyors over sorting screens. The fine ore is then run by conveyors to the storage bins. The coarse ore goes over the picking belt where native copper and chips are removed and thence to five crushers where it is reduced to cubes 1½ inches through; these crushers discharge into huge rolls that reduce the size about one-half. Automatic conveyors take the crushed ore to bins.

The ore is then mixed with water and taken through several processes to remove the coarse sand, the slime and other impurities. Narrow guage cars carry the concentrates to the smelters. The plant is equipped with an uptodate machine shop and blacksmith shop, and large extensions are now under way.

TWO BRADFORD COUNTY MEN KILLED SATURDAY NIGHT.

Both Met Death on the Lackawanna Tracks at Waverly.

A double tragedy occurred at the Elmira street bridge, across the D., L. & W. tracks at Waverly, at 10 o'clock Saturday night. James Morris, a farmer, who resided near Williwanna, was driving home with a young and somewhat fractious horse attached to a sulky. For some unknown reason he attempted to drive across the D., L. & W. bridge, which is closed and which has recently been used for the new South Waverly trolley line. There is no bottom in the bridge and he and his horse plunged off from the abutment, a distance of about 30 feet, to the tracks below. Mr. Morris struck on his head and shoulders. His neck was broken and he was instantly killed. His horse escaped without serious injury in some miraculous manner. Morris's remains were taken in charge by Undertaker Farley. He is survived by his wife. The funeral was held from his late home Tuesday at 1 p. m. He was 72 years of age.

Fell Beneath Train.

At the time Mr. Morris was killed a considerable crowd had gathered and cries of help were heard. On investigation, a man was found lying on the tracks with both legs cut off. He was taken to the town hall and Dr. Tucker sent at once for the ambulance from the Packer hospital, where he was taken and died immediately after his arrival. His name was Al. Bradley and his home was in South Waverly. He was seen about 9 o'clock Saturday night and said he was going to take a D., L. & W. freight for Elmira. It was about 10 o'clock when he was found and it is supposed that he fell from the train.

Runaway Friday Evening.

Jack Piollet, son of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Piollet of Wysox, was severely bruised but not seriously injured in a runaway a short time before 6 o'clock Friday evening. Mr. Piollet had gotten out of his carriage on Third street to see some friends. He left the horse standing without hitching it. The horse started to walk away and Piollet called to it. This seemed to start the animal and Piollet ran and grabbed for the reins. He was thrown down under the horse's heels and the wagon wheels passed over him. The horse ran down the street and at Bridge and Main the carriage collided with a telephone pole and was wrecked. The horse ran on to the bridge where it was caught. Piollet was taken into John H. Dean's house and Dr. T. Ben Johnson sent for. It was found that he was apparently not seriously injured but had severe bruises on the forehead, about the right elbow and the left side. He was later taken to his home at Wysox.

MAN FOUND DEAD IN THE WOODS NEAR HOMET'S FERRY.

Evidently Fell Down Hundred Foot Gulley to His Death.

The dead body of an unknown man was found in Fred Caswell's woods near Homet's Ferry Sunday morning by Will Campbell. The body was in such a decomposed condition that after being viewed by Undertaker William Chaffee of Camptown, County Commissioner L. H. Marsh and Justice Edward Smith of Wyalusing, it was buried at once in the Potter's field in the cemetery at Camptown.

The man first appeared at Homet's Ferry on Sunday, June 3. He went to the home of Joseph Wildrick. He had on a gauze undershirt, a pair of trousers, tattered and torn from the knees down, and a pair of shoes. He acted in a strange manner. One side of his face was bloody from a bruise. He left his shoes at a creek and went to William Boyd's. There he appeared clad only in an undershirt. He asked for water and later went on and disappeared in the woods. He was not again seen until Sunday when his dead body was found. It is thought that the man may have been thrown from the cars which mentally unbalanced him and that in this condition he fell down a gully which is about 75 to 100 feet deep, at the bottom of which he was found. It is likely that the man fell soon after leaving Mr. Boyd's place and that his dead body had lain there in the woods a full week. The only thing to distinguish the man was the fact that several of his teeth were almost exactly round in shape. He had a bad scar on one leg. The man had brown hair and a light moustache.

OFFENSIVE CLAUSE.

Petition Against One Provision of Railroad Rate Bill.

J. Roy Lilley, son of Mial E. Lilley, congressman from this district, was in Sayre Saturday circulating a petition asking that one of the clauses be stricken from the railroad rate bill. The particular clause provides that there shall be no more indiscriminate granting of passes, and that there shall be no discrimination in fares on railroads. According to those who have examined the clause it will prohibit railroads from granting passes to employes or cut-rate tickets to those employed by the road.

Of course, this clause is objectionable to the railroad employes. Mr. Lilley visited the Lehigh shops, where the signatures of nearly every employe was secured to the petition.

Miller—Hoyles.

Oliver J. Miller and Miss Mabel Hoyles were married in the Methodist church, Troy, at 6:30 o'clock last week Wednesday evening in the presence of 100 guests, the Rev. A. E. Hall officiating. The bride was attended by her sister, Jennie, and the groom by Charles Hoyles, brother of the bride. A reception followed at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sevellan Hoyles, to which only the immediate friends were invited. Mr. and Mrs. Miller left next morning for Geneva, N. Y., where Mr. Miller has a position.

Woke Up "Touched."

A woodsman from Laquin reported to Officer Hollon Saturday that when he woke up that morning he found himself across the Towanda creek bridge without his gold watch, $18 in cash, his shoes and hat. The woodsman said that he had left Towanda on Friday evening with a short, thick set man who claimed to be a miner. The robber apparently left his own cap and shoes in place of those of his victim.

OPINION OF SUPREME COURT IN THE DALTON CASE.

Justice Elkin Finds That the Borough Is Not Liable.

The opinion of the Supreme court, written by Justice John P. Elkin, in the suit of James Dalton vs. Towanda borough in which Dalton was awarded damages of $2,000 and which was appealed by the borough, was received in Towanda June 6. Dalton, it will be remembered, was severely burned by an explosion of dust in the Cash creek culvert in which he was carrying a naked torch.

The Supreme court holds that in order to sustain a recovery, the plaintiff must have established two things: First, that the defendant borough exercised control and dominion over Cash creek culvert, and second, that it knew or ought to have known the dangerous and inflammable character of the sand dust accumulated therein and should have given notice thereof.

The Supreme court held that the plaintiff has not shown that Cash creek belonged to the borough or was maintained by it. The only evidence was that a public sewer occupied a portion of the stone culvert put in by the property owners. It continued to be a natural water course and the borough had a right to drain into it. The borough did not give permission to the furniture factory to place its sand pipe in the culvert and the accident did not occur in that portion in which the sewer pipe was located.

The other point is also held fatal to the plaintiff's case. He claimed that the borough should have given notice that the dust in the culvert was inflammable but the Supreme court holds that there is no evidence in the case that the borough knew or ought to have known that the sand dust was explosive. The judgment is reversed and a judgment directed for the defendant borough notwithstanding the verdict.

ULSTER BESTED HIGH SCHOOL.

Lively Game Resulted Four and Two Against High School.

The Towanda High school ball team went down to defeat before the rugged boys from Ulster Wednesday June 6, on a slippery field. Th game was an interesting contest but only a corporal's guard of spectators were present. The grounds were so wet and slippery and the ball so quickly took on the qualities of a live eel that all the scoring done was on errors. However, Ulster managed to make four while the Towanda boys were getting two. E. D. Means umpired the game, which lasted but an hour and 20 minutes, including a wait for a brisk shower.

As usual "Kid" McMahon in center field took all the chances coming to him and landed some pretty flies. Ayers in left garden also raked in a couple of nice catches. Smith on second sack made a double unassisted, taking in a fly and outing a runner at his post of duty all in the same breath.

Johnson pitched for Ulster and he did some nice work, considering it was his first game this season; he fanned six. Morrison caught him in elegant style. Watson was in the box for Towanda, and he played his usual cool game, striking out six batsmen. Behind the bat Bazzett didn't let anything go by him.

The score by innings:

Ulster	1	0	0	0	2	0	0	1	0	—4

GIRL DISAPPEARED.

Agnes O'Neill of New Albany Being Searched For.

The parents of Miss Agnes O'Neill of near New Albany, are greatly alarmed over the sudden disappearance of the young woman. Miss O'Neill, in company with several other young ladies, came to Towanda on June 1 to takke the teachers' examinations. They went to the grand jury room and there found that the examination was to be held at the Susquehanna Collegiate Institute building. The girls started for there and some place on the walk between the two buildings Miss O'Neill left her companions. Nothing has been learned of her since.

She is 17 years of age and on coming here wore a white straw hat, turned up in the back and fastened with a buckle, wore a white shirt waist and blue skirt. She has dark hair and gray eyes and her forehead was broken out with a rash. The girl's mother came to Towanda on Tuesday of this week and thought that her daughter might have become timid at the prospect of taking the examination and gone to work in one of the factories or as a domestic. Chief of Police Miller made inquiries all day yesterday but could not locate the girl. Any information concerning her should be sent to Chief of Police Miller, Towanda, Pa.

Girl Still Missing.

Agnes O'Neill, the 17 year old girl who disappeared while in Towanda for the purpose of taking a teacher's examination, is still missing. A girl who answered the description sent out was located at Monroeton but proved not to be the girl in question. Miss O'Neill's father spent Friday in Sayre looking for her but was unable to secure any trace whatever.

Burglary at North Waverly.

The store of J. N. Hoyt, at North Waverly, was burglarized some time last week Thursday night or early Wednesday morning. The thieves gained entrance by prying open a shutter, then breaking the window pane, unfastening the catch of the window and pushing it up. The value of the property taken amounted to about $25.

James Vincent and Leon H. Stedge are attending the sessions of the state Sons of Veterans as delegates from Watkins Camp of this place.

DIES PROTESTING INNOCENCE

Tucker Declares He Never Had Courage to Kill a Woman.

Boston, June 12.—Before Charles Lewis Tucker, the murderer of Mabel Page of Weston, died in the electric chair in the state prison he gave to his attorney, James H. Vahey, a letter written on Sunday, which was in part as follows:

"I may have my faults, but I never could have the courage or the heart to do such an awful thing to a woman. God alone knows my heart, and he knows that I did not commit this awful crime. If nothing turns up to interfere I will have to die, and I assure you I will die brave and like a man. I have been asked, if guilty, to confess, but to the people that asked me that I told them this: 'I have nothing to confess. Do you want me to tell a lie?' My last words to you are that I am innocent, and they will be the last words that I will have on my lips when I die."

Tucker walked from his cell to the death chamber and seated himself in the electric chair without assistance. His manner throughout was solemn, yet careless. The witnesses present said the execution was successfully carried out.

Just before reaching the electric chair Tucker drew from the right hand pocket of his trousers a piece of paper.

From this paper he read mechanically the following statement in a tone so low that the witnesses could hear but a few words:

"I hope God will forgive me for all the wrongs I have ever done in my past life. I forgive everybody who has ever wronged me. I am at peace with my Maker. May God have mercy on my soul."

The exact phraseology was only learned when the paper, which Tucker had replaced in his pocket with wonderful deliberation and calmness, was removed from his clothing subsequent to his death.

BAD BLAZE AT SODUS, N. Y.

Half the Village Destroyed by Fire of Unknown Origin.

Rochester, N. Y., June 12.—The most disastrous fire in the history of Sodus broke out at 2:30 a. m. in Frank D. Gaylord's general store on East Main street. This is the largest store in the village, and by the time the firemen arrived the building was beyond saving. The fire spread to the store of Abram C. Shaw, in which was located the Rochester and Sodus Bay railway office. Then it jumped to the roof of Glen B. Reeve's meat market and into the Sodus grange lodge room and then to the postoffice, the millinery store of Mrs. C. J. Williams and Colvins' drug store. Explosions of gas added to the confusion and danger, and though the firemen battled bravely with the flames the buildings were soon razed to the ground.

The grocery store of William H. Richardson was completely gutted and the following buildings were destroyed: The John Riggs jewelry store, David Larock's barber shop, Charles D. Gaylord's bank and the office of the Sodus Alliance, William C. Fisher's barber shop, C. W. Snyder's jewelry shop and a boarding house occupied by Joseph Boyer and family. The Myers hospital caught fire, but was saved. If this building had not been saved it is probable that the entire village would have been wiped out. The eastern half of the village is practically annihilated. Most of the buildings were wooden structures. It is estimated that the loss will be over $100,000. The origin of the fire is a mystery.

Mob Hurls Eggs at Pastor.

Lincoln, Neb., June 12.—The Rev. D. W. Wilt, pastor of a church at Havelock, a town near this city, was pursued by a mob, and stones and eggs were hurled at him. Mr. Wilt had appeared before the city council of Havelock to protest against the granting of certain saloon licenses. During the hearing a mob gathered around the city hall, and when the preacher and his temperance friends started home they were surrounded by the mob. No one was badly hurt, but the crowd threatened the minister until he was safely inside his home.

Big Bronx Factories Burn.

New York, June 12.—Two large factories were destroyed, an entire block was for a time threatened and damage estimated at more than $300,000 was done by a fire which started in the five story warehouse and factory of Charles Rieger's Sons in East One Hundred and Forty-eighth street, between Brook and Bergen avenues. Five hours of strenuous work were required before the blaze was fully under control. In the course of the fire several firemen were slightly injured.

INSURANCE MEN INDICTED.

Gillette and Grannis, Late of Mutual, Held In Heavy Bail.

New York, June 12.—Dr. Walter R. Gillette and Robert C. Grannis, both of whom until two months ago were vice presidents of the Mutual Life Insurance company and members of the McCurdy "inner circle," were indicted by the special insurance grand jury.

There are six indictments—five for forgery in the third degree and one for perjury—against Dr. Gillette. Against Grannis there are two—one for forgery in the third degree and one for a misdemeanor consisting in the filing of a false report with the state superintendent of insurance at Albany.

The two indicted men were not subjected to the humiliation of arrest, arrangements having been made with their counsel to have them within easy reach at the time the indictments were filed in court. Both men pleaded not guilty and were admitted to bail, Dr. Gillette in $10,000 and Mr. Grannis in $5,000.

The filing of the indictments was the last act of the special grand jury which has been at work since the beginning of May. With the true bills against the two former officials of the Mutual the special grand jury brought into court a presentment which was a scathing arraignment of the methods in vogue during the McCurdy regime.

STITCHED MAN'S HEART.

Physicians Held Pulsating Organ For Twenty Minutes.

Philadelphia, June 11.—For twenty minutes the pulsating heart of William Wyatt, a negro who had been stabbed in the struggle over a knife, was held in the hands of two physicians in the Pennsylvania hospital, while Dr. Richard Hart sewed six stitches in the organ and then replaced it in the man's body.

Wyatt, who was at first thought fatally injured, was reported to be resting comfortably, and the physicians believe that the operation was successful.

It was the third time such a delicate operation had been performed in this city.

When Dr. Hart examined the negro he knew there was about one chance in a thousand of saving his life. That chance was in performing an operation on the heart. Dr. Hart made a long incision in the left side, sufficiently large for the surgeon to lift out the pulsating heart and place it in the palms of two assistants, and there it lay throbbing vigorously as it sent the blood coursing through the arteries.

Dr. Hart was compelled to sew six stitches in the organ. This had to be done very slowly and carefully, and in order that the heart action should not be interfered with he was compelled to make the stitches between the pulsations.

When the operation was concluded the heart was put back in place and the external wound sewed up.

EXPLOSION KILLS ELEVEN.

Victims Torn to Pieces at Pequea (Pa.) Dynamite Plant.

Lancaster, Pa., June 10.—Eleven men were blown to pieces and five others were seriously injured by the explosion of a dynamite plant near Pequea, Pa., along the Susquehanna river.

The accident was one of the most horrible in the history of Lancaster county. The victims were literally torn to pieces, not enough remaining of a single body to make identification possible.

The cause of the explosion is not known. Two unknown residents of York county who were killed had just started to drive from the place with a load of dynamite. They had scarcely gained a distance of fifty feet when the plant blew up with a detonation that was plainly heard fifteen miles away. A great cloud of smoke covered the site of the factory, and when it had cleared away there was not a vestige of the horses, wagon or men who had left the factory only a moment before. The air was filled with debris and fragments of human bodies, and pieces of flesh and limbs were found hanging to the trees nearly a hundred yards from the scene of the disaster.

The dynamite plant was owned by G. R. McAbee & Co. of Pittsburg and manufactured the explosive for the Pennsylvania railroad construction work under way in that section. It was situated midway between Pequea and Martic Forge.

CHILD CULTURE.

Paper Read by Mrs. C. H. Warren Before Pomona Grange.

The subject of child culture is one which should be of interest to every one, but more especially to parents, as they are the ones upon whom the responsibility of child training principally falls. Let us consider for a moment the meaning of the word, culture. One definition is, attention and labor given to growth, especially with a view to improvement. It also means to educate or refine. Culture then includes both teaching and training. A child must be taught what he does not know, or that which is beyond himself, and he must be trained to develop the principles taught, and also to develop and control his natural faculties and powers. As parents, our endeavor should be to teach and train our children in the right direction, for they will learn evil as easily as good, and be trained in the wrong way as well as the right. Proper training will subdue the evil tendencies and develop and improve the good. The one great principle in the training of children is to prepare them for their life's work, to enable them to become strong, independent and self-reliant men and women. In order to accomplish this it is necessary to teach them self-control, self-denial and the necessity of the performance of duty, and courage to do what duty requires. And then train them according to this standard.

Self-control is of the utmost importance all through life and unless we learn it in childhood we are indeed unfortunate. A child should be taught not to give way to tears for every little pain or for every childish sorrow. Teach him that such things will happen many times, and that he must learn to bear them patiently. But, let us never ridicule the sorrows of childhood for they are as real to them as are our own, but with sympathy help them to control their grief. And never let a child display anger. How often do we see small children kick and scream because they cannot have their own way. And how often, too, do parents laugh at these demonstrations. But what a serious mistake! Children should not be allowed to show their anger by passionate outbursts, but be taught to control it and bring it into subjection. Self-denial is another thing hard for a child to learn, but if learned early in life, will make their way through life much easier. A child who is indulged in every way, in dress, in appetite and in pleasures, and who has no wish ungratified, (though the parents may think they are doing the best they can for their child), such a child is poorly prepared for the disappointments of after years, which will certainly come. Better to train him in youth to deny self for the sake of others and for his own welfare. We hear much about breaking the child's will, conquering him and making him to know who is in authority. But we would say rather, bend or train the will in harmony with the parents' will. Teach the child to will to do right instead of wrong. It is best never to force a direct issue with a child. That is a conflict of wills in which one or the other must win, and which ever way it terminates is a sad failure. It is only a question of brute force. If the parent conquers the child, he has broken his will but no good has been accomplished. A child's will is his power, his personality, his individuality, and it should be respected just as much as the parents. When once broken he has lost to a great extent that power and personality. It should not be broken, only bent. If we have a vine which we wish to have climb or run on a trellis, what do we do? We bend and twist the twigs until they begin to grow in the direction we desire to have them. But, if instead of this we should break off every twig that started in the wrong direction, what would we have? Surely not the beautiful climbing vine we so much admire. Then how much more should we be gentle and tender in the training of the little human plants which God has given us. To train a child in the way he should go, we must furnish proper environments, good books and companions, proper amusements and recreations. We much teach him courtesy to all, and especially to the aged. In no way can this better be done than by our example.

There is but one place in the training of children where "must" should have a part, and that is in the performance of duty. Teach the children that duties which devolve upon them must be performed whether the task be pleasing or not.

A few words now in regard to punishments and rewards. It is well to give a child the chance to choose, to exercise his own free will. He may choose to do right and thus win our approbation or some other reward, or he may choose to do wrong and receive our disapproval. Punishments should be administered as a penalty for wilfully doing wrong This is God's method in dealing with us, his children. He says, " Behold I have set before you, life and death, blessing and cursing." Also, "Choose you this day whom ye will serve." And, "The wages of sin is death, but the gift of God is eternal life." He has created us equal and with free wills to choose for ourselves whether we will do right and have eternal life, or do evil and receive eternal death.

Let us strive as far as possible to deal with our children as God in His wisdom deals with us, and if led by Him we will not err in the principles of true child culture.

NEW YORK FASHIONS

Pattern For a Gown For Miss Baby Designed by Martha Dean—No. 4787

What lovable little creatures babies are in their first dresses! While they do not give much thought to clothes, mother does, and she delights as much in these small dresses as in the latest creations of Paquin. Here is shown a little dress with deep round yoke as a pleasant change from the usual square effect. Fine tucking and insertion form the yoke, with a ruffle of embroidery to correspond. The dress may be made elaborate or simple, according to its use, and lawn, swiss or nainsook may serve as material. As pictured, the bottom is finished with several narrow tucks, a row of beading and an embroidered ruffle; a tiny frill finishes the neck. The pattern comes in one size and demands two and seven-eighths yards of thirty-six inch material.

NEW YORK FASHIONS

Patterns For Corset Cover and Drawers Designed by Martha Dean—Nos. 6451 and 6377

In the creation of dainty lingerie a woman or girl expresses her desire for the beautiful within as well as without. Every true woman cherishes fine garments, and first of all in her estimation is the under apparel. For her who enjoys fashioning these garments here are some suggestions for corset cover and open drawers. They are very practical and attractive as well. Both are slightly full about the waist and finished with shaped and fitted bands. The sheer handkerchief flounces adorn both garments headed with the ribbon-run beading. The drawers are wide at the lower edge and suggest a petticoat in their fullness. For materials nainsook, cambric and long cloth, as well as linen, are used. For the medium size three and three-quarter yards of thirty-six inch material are necessary. Two patterns—No. 6451, sizes, 32 to 42 inches bust measure; No. 6377, sizes, 20 to 36 inches waist.

DIRECTIONS FOR ORDERING

Send 20 cents to this office, give numbers of these patterns, Nos. 6451 and 6377, and state sizes desired. They will then be sent to you by mail postpaid. MARITAL MIXUP.

Waverly Woman Pleads Ignorance of Law in Second Marriage.

Last March Sydney Blauvelt of Rochester, obtained a divorce at Ithaca by decree of Justice Lyon from his wife, who is known in Waverly as Mrs. Clarence Evans.

She was subpoenaed as a witness and testified to the fact that she had married Mr. Evans while she was still the wife of Blauvelt. The justice sent the facts in the case to District Attorney Wallas of Tioga county, and she was indicted by the grand jury at Owego. Chief Brooks, acting under instructions from Owego, arrested the woman and she was taken to Owego by Sheriff Parmalee to await trial. The woman pleads ignorance of the law and claims that she did not know she was committing a serious offense in marrying Evans, as she and her first husband had parted.

She and Mr. Evans are both young people and have lived very happily together in neatly furnished apartments in Waverly for the past three years.

In the eyes of the law the offense is a serious one and the punishment is severe.

Damage at Athens.

During the severe electrical storm that prevailed Tuesday of last week, lightning struck the barn in the rear of M. P. Murray's residence at Athens and a valuable mare standing in the barn received a shock that knocked her down. While the animal is not yet able to regain her feet, Dr. Crawford says that she will ultimately recover. A barn on the farm of Stedman Chapman in Athens township was also struck and a horse instantly killed. In neither case was any damage done to the building beyond knocking off a few boards. On the Hullett farm on Orange Hill four cows were killed by lightning.

Stone in His Head.

Twenty-eight years ago, R. N. Sterling, at that time a resident of Catherine, N. Y., now living at Sayre, dove into a pond and injured his head. The wound healed and did not bother Mr. Sterling until a few weeks ago. Then he felt a slight pain in his head. This week while at breakfast he felt a small lump on his forehead and Charles Deidrick a fellow boarder, with Sterling's permission, opened the lump with a knife. A stone, the size of a pea, rolled out on the floor. The stone eveidently got under the skin when Sterling took that dive 28 years ago and has been in his head ever since.

Buy Hair at Auction?

At any rate, you seem to be getting rid of it on auction-sale principles: "going, going, g-o-n-e!" Stop the auction with Ayer's Hair Vigor. It certainly checks falling hair; no mistake about this. It acts as a regular medicine; makes the scalp healthy. Then you must have healthy hair, for it's nature's way.

AGNEW—CLARK.

Interesting Wedding Celebrated at LeRaysville June 6.

A very delightful occasion was the wedding at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Clark of LeRaysville, June 6, when their daughter, Miss Marvis J. Clark, was united in marriage to Charles H. Agnew, also of LeRaysville.

Before the noon hour over 100 invited guests were assembled from Binghamton, Lestershire, Montrose, Vestal Center, Rome, Orwell, East Herrick and LeRaysville.

At high noon Miss Lillian Taylor of Rome, sounded the wedding march and the bridal party descended to the decorated parlor where beneath a beautiful arch of evergreens the ceremony was performed by Rev. N. W. Barnes, Miss Susie Agnew, sister of the groom, acting as bridesmaid, and Fay Clark, brother of the bride, as best man. Little Miss Genevieve Sumner was flower girl. After congratulations the usher, Fred L. Agnew, seated the guests, where they were served to a beautiful wedding feast.

The bride was the recipient of many beautiful and useful presents. At 3 o'clock amid the usual showers of rice, etc., the happy couple left for a brief wedding trip, visiting Rochester and other places of interest. They will be at their home near East Herrick, after July 1.

Modern Moses.

An unusual and fortunate incident occurred at West Pittston on a recent evening. A man and his little daughter, the child wheeling a baby carriage in which was an infant, were walking along the bank of the river. The child lost control of the carriage and it ran down the bank into the deep water, where it floated serenely right side up. The modern Moses was uninjured.

SEVERE STORM.

Wind and Hail Did Damage Throughout This Section.

A severe storm, accompanied by a high wind and heavy hail, struck this county Saturday. In a number of sections the hail did damage, breaking windows and injuring some crops. The wind blew off big branches of trees, tipped over fences and disturbed buildings. D. O'Sullivan's barn at Overshot was twisted from its foundations. Persons caught out in the storm thought their time had come in the dangerous flying branches and a wind so high that it almost overturned carriages.

In Windham township near Hon. Frank Moore's place, the barn of Elmer Tyrrell was struck by lightning and burned to the ground. During the climax of the storm the sky became very black. The storm in Towanda was not hard but that a heavy storm was near was soon evident from the cooling of the atmosphere after several oppressive hours. There were several rain storms Sunday.

Growth of Advertising.

Every adult newspaper reader can remember the time when advertisements occupying more than acolumn of space were so unusual as to excite admiration for the nerve of those who paid for them.

The succesful advertisers of today had small beginnings. Many of them were content at first with a few inches of publicity at a time. But the small "ads" paid and the business grew; the "ads" were enlarged and again the volume of trade expanded; there was an endless alteration of increasing advertising space and increasing prosperity.

The size of the most prominent commercial announcements of today as compared with that of the largest printed in the early '90s tells its own story.

The big "ads" would long ago have been squeezed down rather than stretched out if they had not proved extremely profitable. — Philadelphia Record.

Gas for Wellsboro?

The Wellsboro Agitator says: "We understand two gas wells are to be drilled this summer within two miles of Wellsboro on the west. One of these wells will be commenced as soon as the derrick is erected. The field is considered promising from the fact that wells a little farther west a year or two ago made fairly good showing in gas. It is evidently there, and if it can be obtained in sufficient quantities you may figure on a boom for Wellsboro immediately."

DR. KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY

Breaks no Hearts, Excuses no Crimes.

Dr. David Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY is not a disguised enemy of the human race; where it cannot help, it does not harm. It is composed of vegetable ingredients and does not heat or inflame the blood, but cools and purifies it. In all cases of Kidney troubles, Liver complaints, Constipation of the Bowels, and the delicate derangements which afflict women, the action of Dr. Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY is beyond praise. Thousands of grateful people voluntarily testify to this, in letters to Dr. Kennedy; and with a warmth and fullness of words which mere business certificates never possess. It makes no drunkards—excuses no crimes—breaks no hearts. In its coming there is hope, and in its wings there is healing. We challenge a trial and are confident of the result. Your druggist has it. ONE DOLLAR a Bottle. Bear in mind the name and address: Dr. David KENNEDY, Rondout, New York.

WELLSBORO AROUSED.

There Was a General Jail Delivery on Friday Night.

Five men broke out of the county jail at Wellsboro Friday. Their names and descriptions are:

Mahlon Parsons, aged about 20, dressed in lumberman's clothes, brown eyes, little moustache, tattoo marks on each arm.

Grant Brown, cork leg, dark eyes, black hair mixed with gray, weighs about 140 pounds.

Frank Cobb, weighs about 154 pounds, dark eyes and moustache, black hair.

Ward Loper, smooth face, curly hair, weighs about 170 to 175 pounds.

Harry Hyde, pointed features, smooth face and very pale.

They sawed their way through stout iron bars, and grated windows, and have not as yet been captured. The Wellsboro jail is much stronger than the average jail, and it was deemed impossible for any one confined inside to get out. The men sawed their way out of separate cells and then out of the jail by means of hacksaws. The bars, which were cut, have been found to be of very soft material, and the work of sawing them in two was very easy. No one heard the men working.

CONGRESSIONAL CONFERENCE.

Will Meet at Susquehanna to Choose This District's Candidate.

The Republican conferees of Bradford, Susquehanna, Wayne and Wyoming counties met at Susquehanna on Wednesday afternoon, to select a nominee of the Fourteenth congressional district for member of the house of representatives at Washington. Hon. Mial E. Lilley is the candidate from Bradford county. At the last Republican county convention he was empowered to select his own conferees and has named the following: E. J. Atwood of LeRaysville, Hon. E. D. Lewis of Wyalusing, Brooks Kerrick of Asylum, N. V. Weller of Athens, Morris Shepard and John W. Codding, Esq., of Towanda.

Mr. Codding received a telegram from Mr. Lilley Tuesday in which the latter stated he could not be present at the conference because of the fact that he wished to be present at Washington when the vote on the railroad rate bill came up. A clause in this bill prohibits the issuing of free passes to railroad employes or their families and Mr. Lilley is in favor of an amendment to the bill striking out this provision.

Waverly Boy Drowned.

Walter Wilson, 17 years old, of Waverly, employed as a weaver at Wickwire's factory at Cortland, was accidentally drowned at 8:45 o'clock Thursday night in what is known as the Bruce Smith pond, three miles south of that city, on the Smith farm. After finishing his supper Wilson and two friends started on their wheels for the pond. The other two boys were to the farther side of the pond and started to dig bate preparatory to fishing. Wilson took off his clothes and waded out. It is thought he stepped into a deep hole or was suddenly seized with cramps.

NURSE'S SAD DEATH.

Former Binghamton Woman Fatally Affected by Cancer Virus.

New York newspapers of Friday give an account of the death of Miss Edith M. Kilmer, at a cancer hospital in Jamaica, Long Island. She was daughter of Dr. S. Andral Kilmer of Binghamton. Several years ago she decided to devote her life to nursing cancer patients, for the reason she said, that it is a necessary work, and nobody likes to do it.

She dressed a cancer without taking the precaution to wear rubber gloves. There was a slight scratch on her hand, and through that she was "blown" with cancer virus. In a few hours her arm began to be painful, and it continued to swell rapidly until she died. Her father was at her bedside when the end came. Her cousin is at the head of the Jamaica sanitarium. The deceased was 24 years old. She had many school friends in Binghamton.
